The Picasso boasts a contemporary aesthetic with its recess door and flush handle. Offering precise control over combustion, it features a fixed primary and a controllable secondary air intake, allowing you to tailor the heating experience to your liking. Primary air enters from the bottom, fueling the fire through the ash pan chamber, while secondary air, heated by the top plate, enters from the top, ensuring optimal combustion efficiency. As the heated air flows over the viewing glass, it acts as an air-wash, keeping the glass clean and free from soot buildup. Additionally, the Picasso provides convenient small wood storage, combining functionality with elegance for an unparalleled heating solution.
